

FILMS UNITED NATIONS NATIONS UNIES

"BRIDGES ACROSS THE SOUTH"

16mm, colour, 27 mins.

An engineer from Panama visits Las Gaviotas, a remarkable research centre for appropriate technology in the eastern plains of Colombia. A student nurse from Tchad studies at a unique medical centre in Cameroon. A coconut farmer from the Philippines visits an experimental coconut farm in Indonesia. These examples illustrate a new emphasis in development planning. While not rejecting Northern aid and technology, southerners are trying to find southern solutions to southern problems. The movement has acquired a name, technical cooperation among developing countries, the inevitable acronym TCDC, and a slogan, "Bridges Across the South".

A film by	Elspeth MacDougall
Narrated by	John Gres
Photographed by	David Hogoboom
Sound	Richard Lipton Philip Mango
Executive Producer	Joseph O'Brien

A United Nations Production

Production No. 20409

Release Date: March 1981

81-44722

editions

FILMS UNITED NATIONS NATIONS UNIES

BRIDGES ACROSS THE SOUTH

An engineer from Panama visits Las Gaviotas, a remarkable research centre for appropriate technology in the eastern plains of Colombia. A student nurse from Chad studies at a unique medical centre in Cameroon. A coconut farmer from the Philippines visits an experimental coconut farm in Indonesia. These examples illustrate a new emphasis in development planning. While not rejecting Northern aid and technology, Southerners are trying to find southern solutions to southern problems. The movement has acquired a name, technical co-operation among developing countries, the inevitable acronym TCDC, and a slogan BRIDGES ACROSS THE SOUTH.

16 mm colour

Length: 27 minutes

Languages: English, French, Spanish, Arabic

Released April 1981 by: Radio and Visual Services Division
Department of Public Information
UNITED NATIONS
New York, New York 10017